We create the solution.

Your advantages

From our commitment to be a partner at eye level for our clients, numerous opportunities grow for you through our consulting services.

Efficient processes

Increased efficiency

Benefit-oriented product use

High return on investment

Exclusive knowledge transfer

Benefit from an on-site consultation from our consulting team and make the most of all the advantages for your textile service business.

Consulting and trainings

To make your processes run smoothly, all your TIKOS modules, app and web solutions must be optimally integrated into your corporate structure and your users must be trained in detail. We support you in optimising your existing processes and provide our complete expertise.

30 years of experience

On-site consulting

An on-site appointment with our consultants is worthwhile in any case. The combination of several services, an expansion of your operation by an additional field of expertise or before larger investments, such as the acquisition of production equipment for RFID technology or sorting technology, in all cases you can benefit from the experience and knowledge of our team.

Exploit even more potential of our solutions

Our consultants will show you optimisation possibilities and potential savings. The use of further solutions can be analysed quickly and directly in practice.

Increase knowledge in your company

In an on-site consultation, you will learn more details on how to use our solutions. New as well as already experienced team members benefit from the on-site appointments with our consultants - this is proven by our satisfied customers.

Combining several services

Combine a training session or an update in your company with a comprehensive consultation. This way, all questions regarding our TIKOS laundry software as well as our web and app solutions can be discussed on site.

What our customers say

Direct on-site consultation made it possible to incorporate many new experiences, simplifications and immediately applicable findings into the system. (Havel Mietwäsche oHG)

The on-site appointment allowed all the open topics and questions from several departments to be approached in a focused manner and worked out together with the consultant. (Wolfsperger Textilpflege GmbH)
