

texPortal workwear

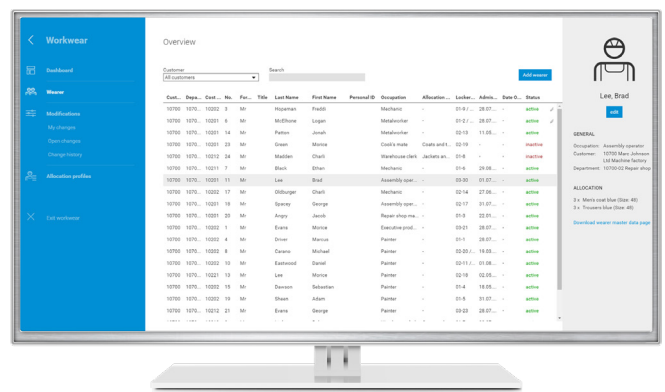

The module for online service

With this web portal, you can provide your business partners and customers with a powerful tool to save time and money. Via the Internet, your customers can easily find out about the current status of their workwear, regardless of time. Service orders can be placed directly via the portal with just one click.

Portal with all daily management functions

In the workwear portal, new wearers can be created, existing wearers can be deregistered, or the data of individual wearers can be changed. All functions of daily administration (e.g. rebooking, discontinuation, size exchange) are possible, which would otherwise have to be transmitted to your laundry via fax or email.

With allocation profiles, the work for your customer can be additionally simplified. All new installations and changes can be logged and, after approval, transferred directly to the TIKOS ERP system. In this way, your customers can, for example, set signals for due repairs on the items. The texPortal provides your customers with a quick and convenient insight into stocks, item status, movements, and invoice data. The evaluations based on the data can be retrieved and exported as CSV file or in Excel. This eliminates the need to deal with information and administration tasks.

User management with assignment of individual rights

Your customer's data, and only this data, is synchronised with the portal server via the Internet. Each client receives his own individual access data to the texPortal. This ensures that they can only view their own data. Basic rights can be set per customer, depending on which functions you want to enable for your customer. Each customer has its own user administration, where in turn each user can have individual rights to the functions enabled for the customer. Restrictions can be set at menu level as well as at customer and department level. Mandatory fields for input can be defined for each customer. In addition, it can be set for each field whether it is available as an input field, whether it is available as a column in the table view, and whether it appears on the wearer master data page. The columns can be activated or deactivated per customer in the evaluations.

Your customer portal, your style

In the portal for your customers, you have the option to customize the appearance to match your company. With just a few clicks, you can upload your company logo and set your individual company color.

Advantages

- Setting the basic rights of a customer
- Customer-specific user administration
- User restriction at client and department level
- User restriction at menu level
- Viewing and changing personal data
- Registering, deregistering, transferring, and deactivating wearer
- Retrieve stock data
- Current item tracking status
- Inventory increases and decreases
- Allocation profiles
- Size exchange
- Signal management
- Wearer master data sheet as a PDF file
- Detailed evaluations
- Individual advertising and news
- Management of customers' own workwear